FOREWORD BY THE PRINCIPAL

MS LEONG MI-CHELLE

Principal,
SEGi College Penang

Dear Class of 2024

Graduation marks a moment of profound transition, where the culmination of years of dedication, perseverance, and growth meets the promise of a future filled with new challenges and opportunities. As I reflect on the remarkable journey each of our graduates has undertaken, I am reminded of the words of B.B. King: “The beautiful thing about learning is that no one can take it away from you.” This sentiment resonates deeply as we celebrate the enduring power of education and the lifelong value it imparts.

Throughout your time here, you have navigated not only the academic demands of your studies but also the experiences that have shaped you as individuals—collaborative projects, extracurricular pursuits, friendships, and personal trials. Each moment, each lesson, and each obstacle overcome has added to the foundation upon which you will continue to build. You are leaving with more than a certificate; you carry with you a unique set of skills, knowledge, and memories that no one can take away. These are your tools to unlock doors to a world of possibilities, and they will serve you well as you continue to grow and contribute to society.

In this next chapter, I encourage each of you to remain curious, to approach life with a spirit of inquiry, and to pursue your dreams with determination. Remember that learning does not end with graduation; it is a lifelong journey. Embrace the opportunities to learn from each new experience, each challenge, and each success. This mindset will empower you to adapt and thrive in a world that is ever-evolving.

As you step forward, know that you are part of a community that believes in you and supports you. Our faculty, staff, and leadership are immensely proud of your accomplishments, and we look forward to seeing the positive impact you will make in your chosen paths. Carry with you the values instilled here—integrity, resilience, and compassion—as they will guide you in both your professional and personal life.

Congratulations to each of you. As you turn this page and begin a new chapter, remember that you have the power to shape your own future. May you continue to learn, to grow, and to make a difference. The world awaits your unique contributions, and I have no doubt that you will make it a better place.

FOREWORD BY THE VICE-CHANCELLOR & CHIEF EXECUTIVE

SIR DAVID BELL KCB DL

*Vice-Chancellor & Chief Executive,
University of Sunderland*

The University of Sunderland is a life-changing institution, with underpinning ambitions to be student-focused, professions-facing and society-shaping.

We have around 26,500 students across our campuses in Sunderland, London, and Hong Kong, and with our worldwide partner institutions, like SEGi University and Colleges.

The University is represented in countries as diverse as Malaysia, Singapore, Botswana, Kenya, Trinidad, Vietnam, and Greece. In addition, of the students studying in the UK, around 35% are from overseas.

The University of Sunderland has major strengths in areas such as health, teacher education, business, law, tourism, engineering, computer science, and the creative arts.

Within the Faculty of Health Sciences and Wellbeing, our medical school – opened in 2019 – now has 500 students being trained alongside the next generation of nurses, midwives, paramedics, pharmacists, physiotherapists, and occupational therapists.

The University's Faculty of Business and Technology is recognised worldwide. Students from over 100 countries are studying on programmes which play a key role in preparing tomorrow's leaders for long and successful careers in a wide range of occupations.

Students pursue degrees in areas such as business, management, tourism, hospitality, and events. These industry-leading and high-quality programmes, with a strong focus on applied learning, are designed to meet the needs of a global market.

The Faculty also educates students for professionally accredited qualifications in engineering and computer science.

A key characteristic of our approach is the extent to which we work in partnership with local, national, and international companies, thus ensuring that students have access to the most-up-to-date industrial practices and techniques.

Within the Faculty of Education, Society and Creative Industries, 750 trainee teachers study so that they are ready to contribute to pre-school, primary, secondary, and further education.

The Faculty is recognised for its range of courses in media, film and radio production, and art and design, underpinned by cutting-edge research.

Media courses are designed to help develop practical and theoretical skills; attributes that make graduates highly sought-after by employers in a broad range of careers such as television, radio, journalism, marketing, digital media, and teaching.

Across all subjects, the University of Sunderland ensures that its graduates are capable, enquiring, creative, enterprising, ethical, and global in outlook. They become confident and employable individuals, ready to make a positive contribution to the world around them. In addition, they become part of a worldwide alumni community – www.sunderland.ac.uk/alumni – which will enhance their career prospects in the years to come.

My warmest congratulations go to all those graduating today.

FOREWORD BY THE VICE-CHANCELLOR & CEO

PROFESSOR JANE HARRINGTON

*Vice-Chancellor & CEO,
University of Greenwich*

I am delighted to welcome all of you, graduates, friends, families and teachers, to today's ceremony. We have gathered here to celebrate new graduates of a university with a history of over 130 years, whose many achievements include best London university for international students in the Whatuni Student Choice Awards 2023.

I also want to celebrate the university's long and successful partnership with SEGi. As partners, we have much in common. We share the same approach to education, equipping students with academic and professional skills that prepare them for fulfilling careers.

As graduates of a UK university but based in Malaysia, you are uniquely placed to succeed in a globalised and ever-changing world economy. The opportunities that surround you are boundless. You have developed the skills to succeed in this environment: the ability to communicate, to think critically, to work in a team, to solve problems creatively, and, perhaps most importantly, to adapt and respond to change.

You will join our global network of alumni, which includes thousands of University of Greenwich graduates in Malaysia, who are there to support you at every stage of your future career.

Though they are more than 6,000 miles apart, the UK and Malaysia share a long and rich history of collaboration and partnership. Our two countries have always enjoyed a close commercial, political and diplomatic relationship. We both share a common attitude to trade and investment and a welcoming commercial environment. As the next generation of professionals and leaders, you will play a crucial part in future successes in our increasingly interconnected world.

As well as looking to the future, today is about taking a moment to take pride in your academic achievements. It is also a day of gratitude. I would like to give my own thanks to the family members who have joined us today. Your love, kindness and support has played a major part in bringing about today's celebration of success.

As new graduates, prepare to seek new challenges. It's a time to be confident, be inspired, be proud, be caring and, above all, aim high. I look forward to following and celebrating all your future successes.

Congratulations on everything you have achieved and good luck for your future.
